Canada's Wheat Now Looms as Important

On Friday, Aug. 6th, the Vulcan Board of Trade were sponsors of a general meeting held in the I.O.O.F. hall, to discuss the harvest help situation of this season.

While there were only some 60 present it was the general feeling of those in attendance that harvest help would undoubtedly prove to be a very trying problem and it was felt that some immediate steps should be taken to lineup the requirements of the districts of Vulcan, Ensign and Kirkcaldy.

As there are some 340 grain permit holders in this territory, it was felt that the number of farmers present was only a small percentage of the total and that the meeting could hardly be considered as representative of the viewpoint of the majority of farmers of the district. However, those present were unanimously in favour of the suggestion put forward that an employment service be opened as soon as possible at which the farmers of the district could list their requirements in the way of help needed. And at which those seeking work could leave their names and be assigned to the farmer requiring their services.

This scheme, no doubt, would prove very beneficial both to the tentative employer and employee, but would entail certain expenses, which could only be met if the farmers of the district would contribute an estimated one dollar each toward this service. Mr. R. L. Elvas has kindly donated suitable office space and the Board of Trade have contributed a party to look after this work.

There was $26.00 collected toward this fund, but it has been estimated that $200.00 to $250.00 will be required to maintain this office for two months. All farmers in the district are requested to remit $1.00 to the secretary of the Board of Trade as soon as possible if they wish this service.

A survey of the requirements of those who turned in their names at the meeting would indicate that the average farm would require two men for an estimated period of 12 days. If this figure is indicative of the district as a whole it would mean that between 500 and 600 men would be required for some 12 to 15 days.

R. H. Painter, Dominion entomologist of Lethbridge, was present and gave a very interesting address on the control of grain and garden pests. Mr. Painter is a very fluent speaker and can always be relied upon to give an informative and interesting address.

Chinese War Relief Fund

HELP FOR OUR CHINESE ALLIES

Our gallant Allies, the Chinese people, badly need help! For seven long years China has been holding in check the greater part of the military strength of Japan. China has lost more men in killed and wounded in this war than all the other Allied Nations, including Russia, put together. The Chinese, by fighting Japan, are defending Canada today just as truly as though they were fighting in Canada alongside of us, but our gallant, patient and courageous friends now need help; the condition of millions of them is pitiful. They badly need medical supplies and comforts; food for millions of refugees who have escaped from Japanese-occupied territory in to Free China, and, to add to their plight, China is now suffering over a large area from a severe drought, which is bringing famine and untold miseries in its wake.

It takes money to buy the things the Chinese people so urgently need, so they are appealing to the Canadian people for help through the Chinese War Relief Fund. Bank managers, salvator agents and others throughout the West, are empowered to accept donations for this fund. It is one of the worthiest appeals ever made to Canadian people. The smallest sum will be gratefully accepted. Let each of us, therefore, give as generously to this fund as he can afford to do. As little as One Dollar will help to save a life.

In Vulcan, donations to the Chinese War Relief fund will be acknowledged through the columns of the Vulcan Advocate. Donations may be left at the Bank of Commerce or The Advocates office.

(By Gordon Smith in Financial Post)

Canada's accumulation of wheat not so long ago a source of embarrassment, is beginning to loom as an international factor of considerable importance. American authorities, with their own reserves of grain melting away, are beginning to regard our surplus with something almost like envy.

Two developments would bring our carry-over sharply into the limelight. Most dramatic would be the sudden freeing of a large block of population in Europe either in the south and east or in the west. In both areas there are millions of people who scarcely know where their next meal is coming from. Certainly if a successful Allied invasion suddenly released them, they would have to be fed promptly, and for many months. The people of Greece, and perhaps also of Italy, may soon be in this position and, in the west, those of France, Belgium and Holland.

The other development, not perhaps so dramatic because it would not come suddenly, would be a partial crop failure in the United States. If that happens then livestock feeders, as well as ordinary human consumers, will need large blocks of wheat and other grain from Canada.

M. J. Coldwell in the House of Commons produced affidavits supporting his charge that the voters list was padded in the Montreal Cartier by-election. Babies, dead persons and persons non-existent were on the list said Mr. Coldwell, claiming that of 42,000 names 10,000 were there improperly. Mr. King said the matter would be taken up immediately.

Storage Headache

In the meantime of course, Canada's grain reserve, and especially the wheat end of that reserve, continues to be an embarrassment, because our storage capacity is sorely taxed. In commercial and farm storage today we have over 600 million bushels of wheat, and when the new crop starts rolling in next month this total may soar to a billion. With only good storage for about half a billion, such an accumulation is going to be hard to handle.

In addition to the physical problems involved there is also one of finance. Farmers are already holding 2-300 million bushels of unsold wheat from last year's crop. Unless some new market opens quickly they are going to be asked to hold still more of the current yield.

Livestock Feed

As for other grain, chiefly barley and oats, there is not the same worry. The market already exists in the demand from livestock feeders in eastern Canada and the United States. The only problem is to connect buyer and seller. The authorities are hoping that large amounts of feed grain will be moved down from the West to eastern feeding points while the shipping season remains open on the Great Lakes. Provision has already been made for the building up of some emergency reserve in eastern Canada but authorities are hopeful that the ordinary feeder will not count on this but will arrange his own purchases and shipments early.

British Revolution

Nearly everyone is familiar with the fact that Britain was a large net importer of foods before the war. But not so familiar is the fact that through amazing stimulation of her own agricultural resources the Mother Country is not nearly so dependent on import sources now. Before Hitler ran amok, Britain produced only one-third of the total tonnage of food required to feed her domestic population. Now that proportion has been raised to over two thirds.

Several million acres of new land have been brought under cultivation and farm labor and farm machinery been made available on a scale never attempted before.

How far this agricultural revolution will be continued after the war is of prime interest not only to every Canadian farmer but to every other citizen, and there are a great many whose livelihood is indirectly dependent on agriculture. For nearly a century Great Britain has been Canada's chief outlet for farm produce and was a huge buyer for our agricultural competitors as well. Even continuing her present rate of farm production she would still be a major food importer and probably big enough to satisfy all Canadian surplus requirements if we held the inside track.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Sokvitni of Lomond are being congratulated on the birth of a son last week.

Mr. Burnell Drummond spent the week-end at Lethbridge.

SERMONETTE

Dr. Spencer once examined 1000 people who were professing Christians with the following results: of the 1000 converted with, he found that the number converted under 20 years of age was 548; the number converted between 20 and 30 was 337; 30 and 40, 86; 40 and 50, 15; 50 and 60, 3; 60 and 70, 1; over 70, not one.

The longer one hardens his heart against the call of God the more his life is molded and cast in the ways of sin and he is less apt to be converted.

"Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." (Ecclesiastes 12:1).

"Except ye be converted, ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven" (Matthew 18:3).

Peaches, pears and plums will have a price ceiling, but this will be considerably higher than last year. The present crop is about one-third of last year. Fruits may be largely absorbed in areas nearest to the growing point.

MAKE THE VICTORY LASTING

UNDER the heading "Let's avoid this trap," the Financial Post expresses fear that the Anglo Saxon weakness for sentimentality about Italian people may gain headway just because Mussolini and his gang have been kicked out of power in Italy. The Post says: "For almost four years Italy has been our enemy, just as ready to kill our soldiers, sailors and airmen as the Nazis. If the Italians have lacked the strength, skill and guts in so doing, this is, no reason to regard them any more fondly than Hitler's Panzers. When Italy had weaker opponents, Ethiopia, inoffensive Albania, mortally wounded France, she was very adept at slaughtering and looting."

"So let us not fall into a trap that may have been

BANANA BELT MOVES NORTH

THIS paper has frequently commented on the fine quality of fruit which is marketed in increasing amount from Taber irrigated district. The developments in this line tend to round out diversification possibilities of Alberta. Self-sufficiency to as great a degree as possible is gratifying whether it be found on a farm in a community, or within a province.

It is interesting to find that experimentation is going still farther in the irrigated area of Southern Alberta. The latest adventure is in the growing of sweet potatoes and peanuts. The initial experiment starts with 10,000 sweet potato plants, with several different varieties under test. This at least will furnish seed for further trial next year.

Ted Sundal of Taber, who heads the experiment, told the Lethbridge Herald: "I believe that in from five to ten years we can lift the northern rim of sweet potato production from the state of Kansas to the light, sandy soil of the Taber irrigation project."

Mr. Sundal, one of the progressive growers of the south, is looking ahead to the building of the St. Mary dam, and the pushing of irrigation from Taber to Medicine Hat. He believes that there is much light, sandy land in that area well adapted for specialized crops that cannot be grown in the heavy soil west of Taber.

A contemplated two million dollar post war program on irrigation extensions east of Taber, is rousing the forward looking people of the south to the need for making best possible use of the type of soil under irrigation. It is suggested that the federal government secure an 80 acre tract of land for experimenting in sweet potatoes, peanuts, soy beans and other crops that would be commercially profitable.

Wheat Alcohol
Cut in Half

New processes are constantly being developed which will reduce the cost of converting farm crops into industrial materials. An Associated Press dispatch reports development of a new distilling process which went into operation late in June and which it is claimed will cut in two the costs of converting wheat into alcohol to be used for war purposes. It is claimed this development will make wheat alcohol as cheap to produce as molasses alcohol. This process will save the United States $50,000,000 annually in war alcohol costs and at the same of protein feeds for livestock and for time will provide one billion pounds enriching human foodstuffs. In advocating establishment of a Western Division of the National Research Council, with fully equipped laboratories, the Line Elevator Companies contend that the resultant research will bring about erection of grain alcohol distilleries in Western Canada, new industrial uses and enlarged markets for farm crops, and greater prosperity for the Western farmer.

Housewives of Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and other eastern cities are making great outcry against the cost of fresh fruits. From what can be learned they are paying about half the price we pay on the prairies.

cleverly devised to spare Italy now and pave the way for sparing Germany later on. Let us not be weakened in our resolve to make the victory a good one, and one that will last. Let us not be bamboozled into taking new Italian leaders to our bosom or letting them into our house as harmless and domesticated. Nothing would serve the Nazi cause so well. If we weaken on Italy we will simply be showing the Nazi hoodlums a way to escape the awful retribution we have in store for them. It is we who are on trial, not Badoglio or the Little King."

The warning of the Financial Post is timely. One failure of the last war was that it was an uncompleted job. Surely that lesson has been learned or this business will have to be gone through in a few years again. Until nations with the lust for war realize the cost of war—until the horror of slaughter and destruction is injected into every fibre of their being, they will make excuse for more war. Then once again the best of our youth will be called to the sacrifice.

Although Britain and United States played no valorous part when Ethiopia and Albania were overrun, they do not forget Italian boasts and cruelties in despoiling these little nations. And those boasts should remain in memory as a warning of what people may do if they have the power.

The falling of bombs and destruction of life are revolting, no matter what country may tremble under the scourge. But until the disposition to make war and more war is purged from the heart of man, the slaughter must continue. No other course seems possible if any lasting lesson is to be learned. It is the responsibility of Allied nations to make the victory so decisive and the terms so clear that peace loving peoples are not required to sacrifice every generation to teach the same lesson. This time let it be for keeps.

The extensions in irrigation may come under a scheme of soldier settlement to some extent, and it is, highly desirable that there should be some authentic knowledge on the best paying crops that can be produced, and this knowledge be established as soon as possible.

Many years of study and experimentation have paved the way to the present commercial success of the Taber fruit growing industry. Some years of trial are necessary to determine types of fruit or other products most suited to the area. But eventually the successful results become evident to the public in a commercial way.

The same work is going forward at Brooks with something learned each year in establishing the adaptability of certain species of fruit trees or berries to climatic conditions.

The present year has brought to Alberta people an awareness of their dependence on outside sources for fruit, and the high cost of such dependence.

Generally speaking, there is little fruit grown on farms or in town gardens. But in every neighborhood there are a few people who are exercising patience and intelligence to make a success of fruit growing: Taber and Brooks districts are a sort of advance guard in proving that this climate and this soil may produce a much greater variety of products than was formerly thought possible. Anyone with land to spare and a good windbreak might be thoroughly justified in giving time to starting fruit trees and berry bushes. Steadily the "northern rim" of production is being extended and what was considered impossible a few years ago is gradually becoming established.

Sicilian Gains Tend to Demoralize Wops

Rioting and Military Clashes Continue Between Nazi and Fascist. Berlin Fears Fate of Hamburg. Civilians evacuate

Sweeping through German defenses in Sicily, American, British and Canadian troops are continuing to capture and occupy key towns of the Italian island. Heavy casualties have been exacted amongst Axis troops, and for the first time more German prisoners than Italian have been taken. Both the British 8th Army, the Canadian First Division and the American 7th Army have scored gains. U.S. forces have been sweeping through the northern section of Sicily, while British batter at Catania. Canadians have continued to advance over highland country in bitter hand to hand fighting. Recent Canadian capture has been the town of Agrigento, the Princess Patricia's, the Seaforth Highlanders and an Edmonton regiment. The Canadians are referred to by the Germans as "Red Patch Devils" owing to the bright red battle patch on their tunics. The prisoners taken at Agrigento said the Canadian barrage and air bombardment was worse than anything they had gone through in Russia or in Africa. In the Sicilian fighting the British and American veterans claim dust and heat worse than that experienced in north Africa. Nine Canadian units are engaged in Sicily.

Increasing tension in Italy is expressing itself in rioting in Italian cities and fighting between Italian and German soldiers. All German civilians were advised to leave Italy. German troops have begun to disarm Italian troops in Grecian centres. Rioters in Milan have been firing on German and Italian troops. German occupation troops have been moved from many Greek cities because they were needed elsewhere.

Another weekend development has been the blasting of Rumanian oilfields with 175 American planes making a 240 mile round trip from north Africa to destroy one great source of German fuel supply. Low bombing at dangerous level made the releasing of 300 tons of explosive the more effective.

Following the devastation of Hamburg, Himmler, head of the German police, has arrived in the city to quell peace demonstrations. Hamburg has ceased to exist according to Danish workers who have fled the city.

Berlin fears the fate of Hamburg and Goebbels has ordered the immediate evacuation of all Berlin civilians. Near panic is reported from the German capital as dread of saturation raids similar to that of other German cities grows. Even Nazi authorities estimate 10,000 dead in the Hamburg raids.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. have found a new target in a German steel centre on the edge of the Ruhr, and mass offensives have been let loose on the northern French coast.

In Russia the Germans have rushed help by air to their beleaguered forces at Orel. But the Russians are steadily closing in, menacing ever more seriously the large German concentration at this point. North of Orel the Russians are using cavalry units to drive Nazi troops out of villages. To the south thousands of German troops are reported to have fallen before the ruthless Russian attack.

Many Confusions U.S. Agriculture

A prominent business man and agriculturist of United States in writing to a High River friend, gives an outline of some of the agricultural confusions which exist across the line. Any farm situation in United States bears likeness to problems in Canada, and is for that reason of interest. The writer says:

"The general agricultural situation in the United States is just as I frankly expected—only average. Last year was the most favorable year for farmers all over the United States that we have had for a long time, and 1941 and 1940 were also unusually good years. Naturally, we would like to have such favorable conditions continue indefinitely, but nature does not work that way, and this year we cannot possibly hope for as good crops as we have recently harvested.

"Curiously enough, we have been severely handicapped by an excess of rainfall throughout the Northeast which has kept the land in a state of muddy quagmire, while at the same time there have been serious droughts in the Southeast and in parts of the Southwest.

"On top of a less favorable season, we have the experience of struggling against other adversaries, also. Our theorists in the Federal New Deal at Washington are trying to combat the laws of supply and demand by issuing all sorts of regulations, many of them based on the theory only and not on experiences, which have not worked out as expected.

"As a result, our hog population has increased enormously and it has been very profitable to feed corn and other grain at these guaranteed prices.

"At the same time, these planners in Washington put a ceiling on corn, so that corn cannot be bought or sold above $1.07 per bushel.

"As the Corn Belt producers can make much more than that through feeding their corn to hogs, they simply will not sell the corn to dairymen, and poultrymen, and others outside of the Corn Belt. The result has been that although the Government is calling for more milk, more chickens and eggs, and more beef the feed cannot be bought because of the Federal regulations, and the production of meats, poultry, eggs, etc., will actually be greatly handicapped.

"This is just a sample of one of the many confusions that have arisen

REALISM

A shipyard worker in Vancouver, opposed to the recently voiced slogan of thoughtless agitators—viz., "No beer—no bonds"—points out in a letter to the press the following vicious circle:

"No beer—no bonds.
"No money—no ships.
"No ships—no work in shipyards.
"No work in shipyards—no money.
"No money—no beer."

This, he adds, "covers the situation with realism in overalls." It is a point of view humorously but well expressed. And in the ultimate analysis, there is more realism in it than humor.

Favor Open Season Elk on Highwood

At a well attended executive meeting of the High River Fish and Game Ass'n the question of an open season on elk in the Highwood basin was brought up again. Varying opinions had been expressed on this question at the provincial gatherings and other meetings. But it was felt by the High River branch that a short open season was quite justified.

Reports from sportsmen familiar with the upper Highwood tell of great numbers of elk to be seen there, some setting figures as high as 2000 at certain periods. Many of these elk cross over to the B.C. side where they are shot in any event so it was considered only reasonable and fair to have an open season on this side. Full protection against any over-depletion could be given by way of regulation of the number of licenses issued, length of season and other limitations.

In a survey of the Hungarian partidge outlook, some thought that birds were decreasing in the east country, but there seemed as many as usual to the west of town. It was felt that shortage of shells and gas restrictions would provide sufficient in conservation during the coming season.

The restoration of Frank Lake as a bird sanctuary was again discussed as a project in which Ducks Unlimited is interested and prepared to act. In past years there have been government surveys made under the P.F.A. made for the purpose of extending irrigation projects. It was believed these surveys of proposed schemes connected with Frank Lake would be available, and the secretary was instructed to write the P.F.A. for plans. These would be submitted to Ducks Unlimited and might serve as a guide in any project they had in mind.

News of No. 19 S.F.T.S. Wheat Quota Is 3 Bushels Per Acre

(By R. N. Chester)

After an absence of two weeks, your reporter is back with more news and doings at your neighborhood training station. And there are lots of news this time too! So here's hoping you enjoy reading them.

In the realm of sport much has been accomplished and many various types of games played. First on the list comes the return football match of the Officers and N.C.O.'s on Monday the 19th. In the first game the N.C.O.'s had come from behind in the last inning to win by one run. However, although this game lacked the finish of the first, it was much closer than the score indicated. After battling on close terms, the officers had a disastrous third inning and went down six runs. Despite the efforts of their pitcher who held the opponents down, the Officers couldn't connect with the elusive pill, and they ended up on the short end of a 10 to 3 score. But there will be another match in the future!

While on the subject of football, the station team visited Claresholm on August 3rd and won in an entertaining game 7 to 3. Claresholm will have its chance of revenge on Aug. 5 when they visit Vulcan for a return match.

But the other sports activities must also be covered. The volleyball courts outside have been completed and a schedule of games are already under way. On the first night the Officers won over the Y.Dodgers in three close games. The Control Tower went to town on the Clothing Stores the same evening and won two out of three games. The following week saw the Officers again make the win column by defeating the Maintenance Ticks and Termites two straight, while the Control Tower won by default. The Officers were aided in their endeavours by the genial C.O., W/C Davenport, and the Control Tower had the support of the C.L., W/C Fraser. The games are played strictly for fun, and everyone is really enjoying himself and the exercise. And once again our Y man must take a bow for a venture well launched.

Our aircrew in training, being mostly of English or Anzac origin, have started to play their favorite games—soccer and English rugby. In the first game, there was a very interesting match played on Tuesday July 27, and the Reds defeated the Blues 4 to 3 after some close and well-played soccer. The boys certainly showed they knew the game, and some beautiful goals were scored during the encounter. There will be more of this and rugby to report on at a later date. But the personnel are in for a treat in this regard, because these lads learn to kick a ball as soon as they can walk. Well, almost!

The most popular summer sport—swimming—has made its debut to the station personnel due to the efforts of our C.O. A nearby river has been dammed and swimming parties leave the station each evening after the day's work to have a refreshing swim. And they really enjoy it!

A different type of entertainment was given on July 22 when the officers held their first formal Mess dinner in their newly decorated dining room. A delightful meal was served, and enjoyed by the officers and guests present. The honorary guests were Dr. Carson of Vulcan, Mr. Kyle manager of the Bank of Commerce, Vulcan, and Mayor Smith of Nanton.

After the short speech of welcome and introduction of guests by W/C Davenport, the officers retired to the anteroom for entertainment.

The station personnel, of course, have the regular shows and station dances in the recreation hall for their relaxation and enjoyment in their free hours.

As an added treat for the station, the Southern Alberta R.C.A.F. band from No. 7 S.F.T.S. at Macleod visited the station on Sunday, Aug. 1st and gave an outdoor concert for the personnel and public. Under the baton of Buzz Bowers, and the capable Lac Grisdal as master of ceremonies, the concert continued for over an hour, interspersed with poems by Lac Grisdal.

At the conclusion of the program, S/L Clark said a few words of appreciation on behalf of the guests and personnel present.

Well, I'm sure that all the news has been covered, and I'll be back again two weeks from now. So goodbye for now from your friendly station, No. 19 S.F.T.S.

The Advocate can still send papers to boys on active service overseas if they are bona-fide paid-up subscribers.

Initial Delivery Less Than Five Bushel starter of Last Year. Total Quota For Coming Crop is 14 Bushels Per Authorized Acre

The Canadian Wheat Board has set initial wheat quotas for 1943-44 crop year at three bushels per authorized acre. Last year initial delivery was five bushels. These quotas will apply at stations where there is sufficient space to complete delivery of the '42-'43 fifteen bushel quota. Since all elevator points of this area have sufficient space for the last year quota, the initial delivery will be 3 bushels. The final total quota for the 1943-44 crop year has been fixed at 14 bushels per authorized acre.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said the initial quotas were lower than last year because of the congestion in country elevators. Great difficulty in delivering wheat is expected during the coming crop season. Because of this, Finance Minister Hiley has said that plans are being worked by which elevator companies will be helped in financing properly safeguarded advances to farmers against wheat deliverable under 1942-44 quotas. This applies to wheat held on farms because of congestion in the elevators which they patronize.

The authorized acreage is 65% of the total number of acres any farmer had under wheat in 1940.

Reports from a number of municipalities show that wheat acreage has been reduced since 1940 by 45% or 50%.

Wheat quotas which were established several years ago, are to ensure equitable distribution among the western farmers of available elevator space. It is expected that some of the new wheat even under the reduced quota may have to be held on the farms until the movement of grain from the elevators gets well under way.

Prov. Elevators Still Have Space

According to figures compiled by the Alberta Wheat Pool there is elevator space for more grain deliveries at some points in Alberta. Country elevators have a capacity of 100 million bushels. Latest figures show that 76 million bushels of grain had been delivered up to July 9. The elevators could thus hold another 17 million bushels. It is estimated that 11,500,000 bushels of wheat remain to be delivered in the province on the 15 bushel quota basis. Farmers had been urged to deliver their full quota before July 31.

In some areas plugged elevators have prevented farmers delivering up to their full quota. Efforts are being made to secure cars to relieve the situation at plugged points.

Keep your Advocate subscription paid up to date.

Traffic Rules For Bicycle Riders

Here is the set, called the Junior Red Cross Bicycle Corps Safety Do's;

1. Keep brakes and steering mechanism in good working order at all times.
  2. When riding at night, have bicycle equipped with head and tail lights or reflectors according to requirements of laws and local ordinances.
  3. Obey all traffic laws, and signal with hand when stopping or turning.
  4. Always ride in the street close to the right curb and travel in single file. (Riding on sidewalks is dangerous to pedestrians and bicyclists.)
  5. Ride bicycle at safe speed and keep at least five yards apart when travelling fast.
  6. Remember never to "hitch" on to any moving vehicle.
  7. Ride one on a bicycle, unless the bicycle is a tandem.
  8. Street when riding out of a blind driveway or alley.
  9. Keep both hands on the handle bars, except when signalling a turn or stop.
  10. Always ride with caution and courtesy, and give all automobiles the right of way.
  11. When walking with a bicycle, observe and obey all traffic rules.
- Those are good rules, good enough for parents and recreation directors to teach their children this summer, and good enough for adults who have taken to bicycles since the gasoline shortage to learn also.
